A.M. Richard Fine Art is pleased to announce, The Landscape Within...After Burchfield, paintings and works on paper by Joel Adas, Alessandro Keegan and Eric Therrien.

The exhibition explores the notion of landscape through the eyes of three Brooklyn-based painters. At first glance the artist's individual work does not seem to bear any relationship to one another -life's happenstance, "making" the Williamsburg gallery rounds, as well as a fascination for the oeuvre of the American artist Charles Burchfield (1893-1967) is what initially brought them together. Familiar stylistic iconographies and/or imagery associated with symbolism, contemporary realism, and/or pop culture, are utilized by each artist to express similar sensibilities in distinctive media.

"The Landscape Within", a visible manifestation of each artist's inner psyche, is a contemporary interpretation of tangible maps, the immediate external surrounds i.e. the Brooklynscape-as well as a small window into that which is inaccessible i.e. the natural and fantastic spaces that lay buried in each of us.

This is Mssrs. Adas, Keegan and Therrien's first group exhibition at A.M. Richard Fine Art.

Adas, Keegan and Therrien live and work in Brooklyn, NY.
